SPRING IDIOMS

DRAG AND DROP

Under the sun	Put all your eggs in one basket	A spring in someone's step	Spring into action	A good egg

Be no spring chicken	The grass is (always) greener on the other side	A happy bunny

used for emphasizing that something includes a very wide range of things		to depend completely on just one idea, plan, or person so that you have no other possibilities if things go wrong
used for saying someone looks as if they are happy and full of energy		used for saying that something is done quickly and with energy or force
a good or reliable person		to be rather old life seems better somewhere else, or other people's situations seem better than your own		someone who is satisfied with a situation
