Dear Rashid,

How are you? I hope you could get information about endangered animals in Oman for the science project. Anyway, here is some information that can help you in your project.

In Oman, there are about thirteen animals that are endangered. I will tell you about some of them. I will start with the blue whale. It is the largest animal in our planet. Another animal is the green sea turtle. It is the largest turtle of the sea turtle's family. The Arabian leopard is also endangered. Scientists say there only 200 Arabian leopards lived in Oman in the year 2006.

The Egyptian vulture is a small bird that lives in many countries. It is also endangered. It has a special tail shape. There is also the Indian Ocean dolphin. It dies because of noise and water pollution as the scientists say.

This is all I know about endangered animals in Oman. Tell me if you get any other information. Write to me soon.

Best wishes,

Jamal
