READING (5PTS)

Anna, who lives in a small town, always looks forward to the weekend. She studies during the week, but on Saturdays and Sundays she usually spends time with her friends, who enjoy visiting her house. There is a big living room where everyone can sit and talk, and there are also a few comfortable chairs in the garden. Sometimes there are too many people, but Anna doesn't mind because she loves company.

Right now, Anna is cooking spaghetti, which is her favorite dish. She is also preparing a little salad, because one of her friends doesn't like pasta. "Don't forget to wash your hands before eating!" she always says. In the kitchen, there are some apples, a few bananas, and a little milk. Anna usually buys vegetables, but today she didn't have much time. She asks her brother: "How many plates are on the table? How much juice is in the fridge?" He answers: "There are four plates, but there isn't any juice."

Anna's brother is helping her by setting the table. She tells him: "Put the forks on the left and the glasses on the right. Don't eat the cake yet!" He laughs and answers: "Okay, I won't."

Later, her friends will arrive. They are going to play music, tell funny stories, and watch a movie that Anna chose. "Would you like some popcorn or a sandwich?" she asks them. Most of them say: "We'd like popcorn!" Anna prepares a big bowl and says: "Sit down and be quiet, the movie is starting."

Anna is very happy. She likes spending time with her friends, who always make her weekends special. She knows next weekend will be just as fun, because there is always something to do, and there are always people who love being with her.
