Introduction: This material provides a review of "I wish and If only" structures followed by controlled practice task.

Procedure:

1. Distribute the material and review the brief description with the class.
2. Students complete the four grammar exercises individually.
3. Check answers using the Answer Key provided.

Expressing Regrets and Desires

Name: _____ Date: _____ Class: _____

GRAMMAR BRIEFING: WISHES & REGRETS

- Present Wishes (Desire for a different situation now): Use I wish / If only + Past Simple. (e.g., I wish I had a faster computer / If only I knew the answer right now.)
- Past Regrets (Wishing the past had been different): Use I wish / If only + Past Perfect (had / hadn't + v3). (e.g., I wish I hadn't lied to her yesterday / If only we had left earlier.)
- Complaints & Annoyances (Wanting behavior or things to change): Use I wish / If only + would + verb. (e.g., I wish it would stop raining / If only my roommate would clean the kitchen.)
- Key Tip: If only is usually stronger and more empathetic than I wish, but they share the exact same grammatical structures.

Part A: Filling the gaps

Instructions: Fill in the blanks with the correct form of the verb in brackets to express a present wish, a regret about the past, or a complaint.

Example: 0. I wish I had (have) a faster computer; this one is too slow.

1. If only I _____ (know) the answer to this question right now.
2. I wish it _____ (stop) raining soon; I want to go to the park.
3. If only we _____ (not lose) the map yesterday! We got completely lost.
4. I wish I _____ (can) speak French fluently.
5. If only my brother _____ (not play) his music so loud every night.
6. I wish they _____ (come) to my birthday party last Saturday.
