See You Next Vacation Canada

Susan is a young girl who spent three years working in Montreal, Canada.

Now, she is working in Mexico again, and some friends ask her to talk about differences between Mexico and Canada because they want to go to Canada in winter. Susan says that one of the main differences between Mexico and Canada is the weather; in Mexico we do not have extreme cold in winter, while in Canada it gets around -20 Celsius degrees. People in Canada are used to it, because houses, stores, restaurants and more places have heating. If people want to go out, they will wear proper clothes for the cold. They will wear thick jackets, special boots over the shoes, winter hats and scarfs. If you go to the bus stop, you will find airproof, glass- like shelters that protect people from snow. Buses are always on time. If you take a taxi, you will pay more money and you need to call it before. If you want to use your car, you will need to plug it to the electricity because the oil and the water of the car are frozen. Although, it is very cold, you will find that stores and restaurants are open if you go to malls or downtown. You will pay 25 dollars for each person if you want to have dinner in an average restaurant. If you want to buy fruits and vegetables, you will pay a lot, because they aren't produced in Canada.
