Being a police officer isn't easy. We have to deal with many unpleasant situations. Crimes are committed on a daily basis in a big city like this. The most common crime in this city is probably (1) _____. There are broken windows and graffiti everywhere. Another very common crime is (2) _____, which is a particularly big problem for stores. We also have a problem with (3) _____s, who are always looking for tourists to steal from. Unfortunately, there are (4) _____s as well, which is upsetting because they usually watch people's houses before they break in. We also see crimes such as (5) _____, with street vendors selling fake CDs and DVDs.

Vocabulary 2: Complete the text with the words in the box.

The most difficult crime I ever had to solve was a jewelry robbery, which took place 10 years ago. The robbers had broken into a store downtown. They managed to escape without leaving a(n) (6) _____ for us to follow. They must have been wearing gloves since there weren't any (7) _____s and they hadn't left obvious (8) _____s on the floor, which was very strange. There wasn't a single (9) _____ who had seen the crime, since it had happened in the middle of the night. When we finally arrested someone, he had a(n) (10) _____ and could prove he was somewhere else on the night of the robbery. I thought we'd never solve that one, but we did in the end.

Grammar 2: Choose the correct options to complete the text.

Police say that last month cybercriminals (16) must have / might have stolen as much as $50 million from bank customers, but they aren't sure yet because they don't have the exact figures. At first the police thought that the victims (17) may have / couldn't have known the criminals, since the criminals knew their personal information. However, they (18) must have / may have been wrong because the victims insisted that they had never given that information to anyone. Afterward, police thought that the criminals (19) couldn't have / could have found their details in the trash cans outside their homes, since people often throw away letters from their bank. However, they later realized that this (20) must have / couldn't have been right, because the cybercriminals had been sending the emails from the other side of the world!

deposited any extra (3) fees / income / profit that I made from my part-time job in the account. Then, a few years ago, my great aunt died and I (4) owed / inherited / raised some money. My mother encouraged me to save most of it, but she also suggested I (5) donate / raise / withdraw some of it to my favorite charity. After I did that, I really felt good about myself.

Grammar 1: Complete the text with the correct form of the verbs in parentheses.

A friend asked me yesterday what I (11) _____ (do) if I won the lottery. It's a really difficult question to answer. I think if that (12) _____ (happen), I'd be careful not to let it affect me too much. I (13) _____ (not want) my personality to change if I suddenly had a lot of money. A friend of mine told me that if I won the lottery, I would never know whether my friends were with me for my money or because they really liked me. I don't think that's true. I think that if someone is a good person, their friends (14) _____ (always / be) true friends. Just in case my friend is right, I've decided that if I ever do win the lottery, I (15) _____ (donate) all the money to the homeless.

Grammar 2: Complete the text with the correct form of the verbs in parentheses.

It's true that money's not always a good thing. I've heard many stories of people who (16) _____ (be) happier over the years if they'd never won the lottery. It's not just lottery winners either. I've heard stories about famous people who got injured when their private planes crashed. If they (17) _____ (not buy) a private plane, they wouldn't have crashed. Maybe if they hadn't had money, something bad (18) _____ (might / still / happen) to them. Who knows! Would I have been happier if I (19) _____ (inherit) a fortune? I don't think I would, but it's always interesting to think how life (20) _____ (could / be) different!
