

SUMMATIVE ASSESSMENT

Material : Narrative Text
Digital Application : Liveworksheet
Assessment Type : Short Answer (5 Questions)
Skill : Reading

Learning Objective:

- Students are able to use the Liveworksheets platform to complete exercises independently.
- Students are able to identify the structure, linguistic elements, and moral message in narrative texts.
- Students are able to answer questions based on the content of narrative texts accurately.

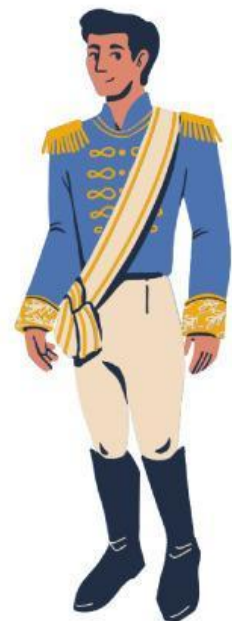

Scoring Rubric

Criteria	Score
The answer is correct and complete according to the answer key	20
The answer is correct but incomplete	10
The answer is incorrect or not provided	0

Final Score = (Total Score Obtained ÷ Maximum Score) × 100

Good Luck!

Name:

Class: X

Malin Kundang-The Ungrateful Son

Read the following legend carefully!

(Orientation) Long ago, in a small coastal village in West Sumatra, there lived a poor widow and her son named Malin Kundang. They had very little money, but they loved each other dearly. Malin was a hardworking and ambitious young man who dreamed of becoming rich someday.

(Complication) When he was old enough, Malin decided to leave his village and sail to a faraway land to seek his fortune. His mother wept bitterly as she watched his ship disappear on the horizon. "Please come back to me," she whispered through her tears. Years passed, and Malin did indeed become very wealthy. He married a beautiful noblewoman and became a successful merchant. However, he was too ashamed of his humble origins to contact his poor mother.

One day, Malin's ship anchored near his home village. His old mother, who had heard of a rich merchant's arrival, rushed to the dock. She recognized her son immediately and cried out, "Malin, my son! It's me, your mother!" But Malin, embarrassed in front of his elegant wife, denies knowing her. "This woman is a beggar, not my mother," he said coldly, pushing her away.

(Resolution) The poor mother's heart shattered. With tears streaming down her face, she raised her hands to the heavens and cried, "Oh God, if this man is truly my son, please punish him for his cruelty!" Suddenly, a violent storm appeared. Dark clouds gathered, lightning struck, and enormous waves crashed against Malin's ship. Malin tried to run, but he couldn't escape. He was turned to stone by the power of God, forever facing the sea as a reminder of his terrible sin.

(Coda) The legend of Malin Kundang teaches us that no matter how successful we become, we must never forget our roots and the people who raised us. A mother's love is the most precious gift in the world and a mother's tears carry the power of heaven.

SHORT ANSWER (5 Questions)

Based on the text above, give your answer!

1 What was the name of the widow's son?

2 Why did Malin deny his mother?

3 Why did Malin leave his village?

4 What happened after his mother's prayer?

5 What was Malin turned into?