The Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) (1) _____ an international organization made up of 38 member countries. Most of (2) _____ members (3) _____ high-income economies with highly developed infrastructure.

Today, the OECD's influence (4) _____ immense, as its member nations account for roughly three-quarters of global trade. The headquarters (5) _____ located in Paris, France, where hundreds of experts analyze global data. (6) _____ daily work involves publishing deep economic reports to help countries improve (7) _____ domestic laws.

Currently, global economic conditions (8) _____ unstable. Issues like digital transformation and climate change (9) _____ at the very top of the agenda. For these experts, finding solutions (10) _____ the main priority.

While critics say the OECD only represents wealthy nations, the organization states that (11) _____ ultimate mission (12) _____ to promote policies that improve the economic and social well-being of people everywhere.

LIVEWORKSHEETS