Reading

1 Read the article about a trip to a festival.

My friend Antonio and I went to the Manchester Spanish Festival last weekend. The festival happens once a year. I didn't use to go, but Antonio invited me two years ago. I had a great time, and now we go every year. Antonio and his family are from Spain, so he can tell me about the food, clothing, music and dancing. Antonio loves the festival because he can enjoy his Spanish traditions right here in Britain.

There is a special type of dance called Flamenco. The women Flamenco dancers wear colourful dresses. The dresses are usually red, and some also have white stripes. Other women wear red blouses with long black skirts. At the festival, many people were dancing together. Other people were singing and playing the guitar. Everyone was very friendly and happy.

I didn't use to dance at the festival because I didn't know how. This year, a girl was dancing near me, and she asked me to join her. I decided to try it and I had great fun! The girl's name was Carmen. Her mum teaches dancing, and it sounds like a fun weekend hobby.

After the festival, we went to Antonio's house. His mum, dad and sister were there. I learned an interesting fact: Antonio's sister Alba goes to school with Carmen. Alba wanted to come with us to the festival, but she was busy. She was studying for a test on Monday. I told her to say hi to Carmen. I hope that we become friends.
