READING COMPREHENSION (15 marks)

In May 2000, Dennis Tito became the first space tourist. He paid about twenty million dollars to the Russian space program and he travelled to the Alpha space station with two Russian cosmonauts. He stayed in space for about a week and when he came down to Earth again, his face showed that he had had a great time. There were television pictures of him smiling and laughing with his Russian companions.

Dennis Tito was a millionaire and he was American, from California, so you might ask why did he go into space with the Russian? Why didn't he go with the Americans?

The answer is that the Americans thought it was too dangerous to have a tourist in space and they didn't need the money. The Russians, however, thought that twenty million dollars was a good reason to take the risk!

ANSWER THESE QUESTIONS

1. When did Dennis Tito go into space?
2. How much did he pay?
3. Where did he go?
4. Who did he go with?
5. Where was Dennis Tito from?
