Part 3

Questions 11 - 15

For each question, choose the correct answer.

WHY THE WORLD NEEDS INTROVERTS?

'It's good to be sociable! It's good to be confident! It's good to be loud!' In her book Quiet, Susan Cain points out how deeply this belief is held by society. Very often the qualities of extroverts - being active and lively, making quick decisions and working well in a team or group, for example - are valued more than the shy, serious and sensitive qualities of introverts. Susan Cain calls this attitude the 'Extrovert Ideal'. In her book she looks at the way society places such value on the Extrovert Ideal that many modern schools and workplaces are built around it. Desks in classrooms are pushed together so that students can work in groups more easily. In Europe and the USA, employees are frequently put in shared offices so that they can work in teams. Students and employees are also expected to be confident and talkative.

Why are the needs of introverts ignored in this way when introverts have so much to offer? Introverts need less excitement around them than extroverts, it's true, but that doesn't make them less exciting people. Many of the world's greatest ideas, art and inventions have been produced by introverts. The Indian leader Mahatma Gandhi was an introvert, as were the artist Vincent Van Gogh and the physicist Albert Einstein.

Then there was Rosa Parks, who started the US civil rights movement in 1955 by bravely and quietly saying 'no' when a white passenger wanted to sit in her seat on a bus. Famous introverts in modern times include Angelina Jolie and Mark Zuckerberg.

Jolie, a hugely successful actor, supports charities that help people in war zones. She describes herself as an introvert, saying she loves to spend time alone or with small groups of people because it helps her develop as a person. And despite the huge success of his social networking site, co-founder of Facebook Zuckerberg remains a private person who doesn't like speaking in public.

But let's not forget that we need extroverts too. Because of course, introverts can come up with great ideas, but they also need help in communicating those ideas to the world. Songwriters need singers. Designers need salespeople. In other words, extroverts and introverts need each other.

- 11. What belief does society often hold, according to Susan Cain?
- A. Introverts are better suited to group work than extroverts.
 - B. Being sociable, confident, and loud is highly valued.
 - C. Introverts are more important than extroverts.
 - D. Schools and workplaces favor introverts over extroverts.
- 12. How are modern schools and workplaces often organized?
- A. Students and employees work mostly alone.
 - B. Desks are separated so students can work independently.
 - C. Shared spaces encourage group work and communication.
 - D. Teachers and managers avoid encouraging team work.
- 13. Why are introverts' contributions important, according to the text?
- A. Introverts have created some of the world's greatest ideas and art.
 - B. Introverts are more sociable than extroverts.
 - C. Introverts are generally better at leading teams.
 - D. Introverts are more productive in quiet environments.
- 14. What characteristic does Angelina Jolie say helps her develop as a person?
- A. Spending time with large groups of people.
 - B. Speaking in public frequently.
 - C. Spending time alone or with small groups.
 - D. Collaborating with extroverted people.
- 15. What is the final message of the text about the relationship between extroverts and introverts?
- A. Extroverts and introverts are equally unnecessary in modern society.
 - B. Extroverts and introverts need each other to succeed.
 - C. Introverts can communicate ideas without extroverts' help.
 - D. Extroverts should learn more from introverts' creativity.

Part 4

Questions 16 - 20

Five sentences have been removed from the text below.

For each question, choose the correct answer.

There are three extra sentences which you do not need to use.

CLOTHES EXCHANGE

Are you like me and have clothes in your wardrobe that you have hardly ever worn? Perhaps you even have something with the label still attached. Before you put them in a bag and take them to your local charity shop or throw them away, consider another possibility. (16).....

Clothes swaps are becoming very popular as they give people the chance to offer their clothing they don't want in exchange for something they'd like to have for themselves. These parties are great for the environment. (17)..... They also allow you to update what's in your wardrobe and to do it without spending any money at all.

If you're thinking of organising one yourself, it's best to keep the event quite small, just inviting friends and relatives. (18)..... In order to make sure there's something for everyone, and that everyone feels included, invite people who are of a similar size and age. Either that or make sure there'll be a wide range of sizes on offer. Finally, decide on the number of items that everyone should bring before the event.

On the day, each person is given a button for every item they bring. These are used instead of money. You might decide before you start that some high-quality items should be worth more buttons than a much cheaper item. (19).....

Make sure items are presented nicely, not thrown on a table in a pile. The idea is to make the whole experience feel professional, almost as enjoyable as looking round your local clothes shop.

Allow 15 minutes at the beginning for people to look at what is on offer. (20)..... Make sure nobody tries to take anything before the swap is supposed to start or it may result in an argument!

- A For example, some people bring clothes that are damaged.
- B Do this with another person so everyone knows it has been done fairly.
- C Then when you're ready, the swap can begin.
- D Why not organise a clothes exchange or clothes swap party?
- E Firstly, people can recycle clothes that would otherwise end up as rubbish.
- F That's why you'll have to find another location.
- G With small numbers you can hold the event in your home.
- H However, the idea became very popular with university students.

Part 5

Questions 21 – 26

For each question, choose the correct answer.

LONDON PARKS

London is famous (21) its parks and gardens. Some of them belong to the Crown, but they are all open to the public, and the entrance is free of charge. In St James's Park, you can watch and (22) swans, ducks, geese, and other water birds. Hyde Park (23) to be a hunting ground and is still popular with horse riders.

Those who like a good argument should go to the Speakers' Corner to listen to individuals (24) speeches on various subjects. Regent's Park now houses London Zoo and open-air theatre where Shakespeare's plays are staged in summer. Not (25) the parks are in the city centre. Greenwich and Richmond are located in the suburbs. All these areas of green give the city dwellers an excellent (26) to enjoy some peace away from traffic and crowded streets.

Part 6

Questions 27 – 32

For each question, write the correct answer.

Write ONE word for each gap.

KEEP CALM!

If you get really nervous when you have to perform in front of an audience, you're not alone. It's a very common fear. Even some very experienced actors and musicians get extremely anxious before performing. Some people say that feeling anxious makes (27)give a better performance, but other people can feel (28) nervous that they can't perform at all. This is a very serious problem (29)it affects their confidence and can destroy their career.

The (30) useful thing to do if you feel worried about a performance is to try to relax. Don't think about all the things that could go wrong. Instead, keep calm and think positively. Before the performance, imagine the audience clapping and laughing. Think about (31) good you'll feel after a successful performance. And remember, if you make a (32) mistake, the audience probably won't even notice.
