Caring for Baby Elephants

Sometimes baby animals don't have parents. The David Sheldrick Wildlife Trust helps elephants in Kenya, in Africa. When a baby elephant doesn't have a mother, people at the Trust find the baby and feed it and protect it.

People at the Trust take care of the baby. They are like its new family. After a few weeks, the baby starts to play and make friends with other elephants. The people know it is ready to return to the wild and live with other elephants!

2 Talk about the reading. Work with a partner.

The baby elephants need help.

That's why the people at the Trust take care of them.
