

The Eagle That Learned to Fly

High above a peaceful valley, a pair of eagles built a strong nest on a rocky cliff. They chose the place because it was safe from wild animals and gave them a clear view of the land below. Soon, a baby eagle named Arin hatched from an egg. His parents kept him warm, protected him from danger, and brought fresh food every day. As Arin grew, he watched his parents soar through the sky with powerful wings. He dreamed of flying, but he was afraid to leave the nest. One morning, his father encouraged him to spread his wings, while his mother reminded him that courage grows through practice. Taking a deep breath, Arin jumped from the edge of the cliff. At first, he fluttered nervously, but soon the wind carried him through the air. He glided smoothly across the valley as his parents watched proudly. From that day, Arin practiced every morning and learned to hunt, stay alert, and trust himself. He realized that courage, patience, and practice help everyone achieves their dreams.

Moral: Courage, patience, and practice lead to success.

Fill in the Blanks

1. The eagles built their nest on a rocky _____.
2. The baby eagle's name was _____.
3. Arin's parents brought him fresh _____ every day.
4. Arin dreamed of _____ like his parents.
5. At first, Arin was afraid to leave the _____.
6. Arin's father encouraged him to spread his _____.
7. The wind carried Arin through the _____.
8. Arin practiced flying every _____.
9. Arin learned to hunt and stay _____.
10. Courage, patience, and _____ help everyone achieves their dreams.