A moment of truth can send your life in a direction that is (1) to where you and others thought you were going. When we are young, our minds are more (2). We are (3) by the opinions of others, like a wet sponge. We are (4) who just obey the rules and listen to the (5) of others. This is only a (6) thing, however, since when we grow up we gain experience. We may have a sudden (7) about our true calling. From that time on, we gain confidence and (8) toward new goals.
