My grandparents have a small house in the countryside. It is surrounded by green rice fields, trees, and colorful flowers. The house is simple but very comfortable. There are three bedrooms, a small kitchen, and a large living room. Behind the house, there is a garden where my grandparents grow vegetables and fruit trees. Every morning, my grandfather waters the plants, while my grandmother feeds the chickens. I love staying there because the air is fresh and the countryside is quiet. In the evening, my family often sits outside and talks together. I think the countryside is a wonderful place to live because it is peaceful, friendly, and close to nature.
