TOURIST INFORMATION COMPETITION

Susan

Our class won a prize in a competition. We had to write some information about our city that would be interesting for tourists. We wrote about museums and art galleries. We took some photographs and also noted down the opening times and how much an entrance ticket costs. There are some famous paintings in the art gallery and a variety of wonderful and unusual objects in the museums. A tour guide in The City Museum was really helpful and she told us why working in a museum is a funny occupation. I think we won the competition because our information was not only useful but also attractive to look at. We all got a free trip to the City Zoo as our prize.

Mandy

Our teacher heard about the competition on the radio. We decided to write about places where you can eat out in our city. We thought it would be good to include both traditional and modern restaurants. Some tourists like more unusual places but others would rather go to more popular places to eat where the locals go. The father of one of my classmates owns a fish and seafood restaurant so he knew all the good places to recommend. We also included fast food restaurants as they are much cheaper and young people prefer them. I hadn't realised how many restaurants our city has until we entered the competition.

Gillian

Our class wrote about the parks and gardens in our city. The National Gardens are really lovely. They are so huge that you can quite easily get lost in them. However, you shouldn't worry if you do because there are lots of maps all over the gardens that show you where you are. There are many different paths that you can walk along. They go through the trees and around a beautiful lake where you can feed the ducks that swim on it. In the parks and gardens there are many different plants and flowers from all over the world. These places are perfect for tourists to rest and relax after a tiring day walking around the city centre. You can even take a picnic with you if you prefer to eat outside.

COPENHILL

Most tourists to Copenhagen want to see its famous sights: the statue of the Little Mermaid in the harbour, the Tivoli Gardens, old palaces and museums. The Danish capital is also famous for its beautiful modern buildings, and in 2019 another building was completed in the city: the Amager Resource Centre (ARC), also known as Copenhill. It has many visitors, but it is unusual because it is not a hotel, a bank, an office block, a museum or a shopping centre. It is a waste resource centre. This means that 400,000 tons of rubbish are brought inside the building every year. There, it is burned to heat 150,000 homes and make electricity for 550,000 people.

However, Bjarke Ingels, the architect who designed Copenhill, wanted the 90-metre-high building to do more than burn rubbish. It is the only place in the country where people can go skiing. The roof is like a mountain with a 400-metre ski slope. It is not white, but green: bright green in the middle and dark green at the sides. Ingels chose green because white would get dirty too quickly. Visitors can also go snowboarding, running or walking on Copenhill, and after an enjoyable day of activity they can relax in the cafe. The outside of the building also has the world's highest climbing wall: 85 metres! The idea that a building can have many very different uses is exciting, and it will be interesting to see what Copenhagen will offer visitors in the future.
