

Comparing Things

(not) as ... as / like / different from

Let's practice! ★

1 (not) as ... as

S + be + (not) as + adj + as + N/Pronoun

- We use (not) as ... as to say that two things are similar or not similar in a particular way.
- Examples:
 - My house is as big as yours.
(Nhà của tôi to bằng nhà của bạn.)
 - She isn't as tall as her sister.
(Cô ấy không cao bằng chị gái của mình.)

2 like

S + be + like + N/Pronoun

- We use like to say that two things are similar in some way.
- Unlike "as ... as", we don't use an adjective after like.
- Examples:
 - She is like her mother.
(Cô ấy giống mẹ của mình.)
 - My school is like a big family.
(Trường học của tôi giống như một gia đình lớn.)

3 different from

S + be + different from + N/Pronoun

- We use different from to say that two things are not the same.
- Examples:
 - My house is different from yours.
(Nhà tôi khác với nhà của bạn.)
 - He is different from his brother.
(Anh ấy khác với em trai của mình.)

Practice

A. Fill in the blanks

Use (not) as ... as, like or different from.

- My school isn't _____ yours.
(big)
- She is _____ her best friend.
(kind)
- This book is _____ that one.
(interesting)
- I can't run _____ my brother.
(fast)
- The weather today is _____ yesterday.
(nice)
- My house is _____ the library.
(far)
- Tom is _____ his sister.
(tall)
- I don't like coffee. I'm _____ my sister.
(like)
- Ha Long Bay is _____ Nha Trang.
(beautiful)
- Our new teacher is _____ our last teacher.
(friendly)

B. Put the words in the correct order

Make complete sentences.

- is / her house / as big as / my house / .

- like / she / her father / is / .

- is / different from / it / this one / .

- is / Lan / not as tall as / her sister / .

- is / my school / like / a big family / .

- is / his phone / different from / mine / .

- like / I / Vietnamese food / .

- is / he / as good at / Math / as / she / .

- is / the weather / not as cold as / yesterday / .

- my city / is / different from / your city / .

You can do it! ♥