Mum, it's not fair!

'I'm a teenager and I never have arguments with my parents.' Does this describe you? If it does, you're one in a million! But for most teenagers, disagreements with parents are an inevitable part of family life. So, what can we do about them?

When you have rows with your parents, it's often because you want something but they aren't willing to give it to you: getting permission to sleep over at a friend's house, coming back home later than you normally do, etc. The question is: what do you do when they say 'no'?

First of all, don't get angry! Your parents aren't saying no to make you feel bad. They have their reasons. So, listen to them. If they don't give you an explanation, ask them - politely! It's important to understand why they're saying 'no'.

Secondly, you need to explain why you're asking for something. Don't just say, for example: 'Can I have a new smartphone?' Give a reason why: 'All my friends have great phones and I feel bad because mine is really terrible. Also, I can't use a lot of apps because my phone hasn't got enough memory.' When your parents understand why you're asking for something, the possibility of getting a positive reply from them goes up!

Thirdly, you need to show that you deserve what you're asking for. Imagine that you ask for a new phone, but you're spending all your pocket money on clothes. It's not hard to predict your parents' reply! But the situation is completely different if you say: 'I'm saving all my money for a smartphone but they're very expensive. Can you please give me some pocket money if I help more in the house?'

So, listen to your parents' reasons, explain why you want something, and show why you deserve it. This isn't a magic formula, but it helps. Good luck!

3 Match the underlined words in the article to the meanings.

- 1 behave well, so it's fair that a good thing happens to you .....
- 2 spend the night at a friends' house .....
- 3 money you get from your parents .....
- 4 very bad arguments .....
- 5 not having the same opinion .....
