Hey friends! I've been making good progress with my new job, but I still need some help. A few months ago, I started working as a junior graphic designer at a small company in my city. At first, I wasn't very confident because I didn't have much experience. Every day, I work on different projects and create posters, advertisements, and social media designs. I've learned a lot, and my designs are getting better. I've also received some really nice comments from my coworkers and clients – thanks!

Now, I think it's time for the next step in my career. I want to become a professional designer and work on bigger projects. I'd like to create designs for important companies and maybe work from home someday. However, I need to improve my skills and learn how to use some new computer programs. A day I will never forget

Last winter, I had an extreme experience when I went hiking in the mountains with two friends. When we arrived, the weather was freezing, and there was snow everywhere. At first, we were thrilled because the landscape looked magnificent. However, after an hour, we discovered a huge frozen lake near our path.

Suddenly, we heard an enormous noise behind us. We turned around and saw a large piece of ice falling from the mountain. We were terrified and quickly moved away from the area. Fortunately, nobody was hurt. Later, we found a tiny cabin where we could rest and drink something warm.

After several hours, we finally reached the top of the mountain. The view was terrific, and we could see the valley below us. Although we were completely exhausted, we felt incredibly happy and proud. It was one of the most unforgettable experiences of my life.
