Match Evidence to the Inference

Directions: Read each passage on the left. Then, read the inferences on the right. Write the letter of the inference that best matches each passage in the box. Finally, write or underline one sentence or detail from the passage that supports your match.

- 9 Before the reading club meeting began, Maya spread several snacks on the table and set out extra bookmarks. When the others arrived, she greeted them with a big smile and had a copy of the new book ready for everyone. During the discussion, she asked questions that helped quiet members share their thoughts.

Evidence: _____

- 10 The lead actor's costume had torn right before the dress rehearsal. The director rushed to the hall where the sewing club was meeting. Several students stayed after school and carefully stitched the fabric. When the actor tried it on, it fit perfectly, and the team let out a huge sigh of relief.

Evidence: _____

- 11 Alex used to sit with his usual friends at lunch every day. This week, he has moved to an empty table by the window. He eats quickly, keeps his headphones on, and rarely talks. When his friends wave, he smiles politely but goes back to his lunch without joining their conversation.

Evidence: _____

- 12 Mrs. Johnson asked the class to be extra prepared for next week. She has placed signs around the school, practiced the morning routine, and asked students to think of good questions. The hallway bulletin board now reads, "Welcome, Dr. Rivera! We can't wait to meet you!"

Evidence: _____

- A The class is preparing carefully because an important visitor is coming to the school soon.

- B The student has changed where he sits and how he behaves, so he is probably upset about something.

- C The costume was saved in time because classmates worked together and used their sewing skills to help.

- D Maya wants everyone to enjoy the book and feel included, and she works hard to lead a successful reading club.
