

to break up in
a liquid and
disappear

to make something
become colder

to go down below
the surface of something, such as a liquid

to stay on top of a liquid without sinking

