READING

12 Read the newspaper article.

Seventeen-year-old lifeguard is a hero!

It was a gorgeous day at a children's swimming pool in Ottawa, the capital of Canada. It was one of the hottest days of the year. Lots of children were playing happily. Kate Winn, a seventeen-year-old student, was there, too. But she wasn't enjoying the sun or the water. She was working as a lifeguard and it was her first day on the job.

As she was looking at the pool, she could see a young boy. He was lying completely still in the water. Immediately, Kate jumped into the pool. She swam quickly to the boy and took him out of the pool. Then she saw that he wasn't breathing! Kate started to push his chest again and again. After a few seconds, the boy started breathing. Then the paramedics turned up.

'I don't feel like a hero,' she said afterwards. 'I was part of a team and I was the first to arrive.'

Circle the correct option.

- The weather was nice / horrible.
- Kate Winn was studying / working at the pool.
- The young boy was in / next to the pool.
- The boy walked / didn't walk out of the pool.
- Kate tried to help / talk to the boy.
- The paramedics / Kate saved the boy's life.
