A Charity for Run

Charity runs have become increasingly popular to raise awareness and funds for various causes while promoting health and fitness. One of the most anticipated charity runs this year is Run for Hope, scheduled to take place in Central Park on 15 October 2026. This event aims to support mental health initiatives in the community with all proceeds going to local mental health organisations. Early registration is encouraged as the first 200 sign-ups will receive a free stainless steel tumbler.

People of all ages and fitness levels are encouraged to join, whether by running the full ten kilometres or walking a shorter five-kilometre route. Registration fees are RM50.00 for individuals and RM150.00 for families. Each participant will receive a special T-shirt and a medal, celebrating their contribution to a good cause.

The event will kick off at 7.00 a.m. with a warm-up session led by professional trainers. Throughout the event, there will be various activities including live music, food stalls and wellness workshops, ensuring a fun-filled atmosphere for both participants and spectators. Volunteers are also welcomed to help with event coordination and crowd support.

Local celebrities and community leaders will also participate to show their support and encourage others to get involved. This charity run not only promotes physical fitness but also fosters a sense of community and compassion among participants. By coming together for a common purpose, individuals can make a significant impact while enjoying a day of fitness and social bonding.

Read the text below. Six sentences have been removed from the text.

Choose from the sentences (A – H) to fit each gap (35 – 40).

The smart shopper

Every Saturday, Amir goes shopping with his mother at a large shopping centre near their home. He enjoys looking at the colourful displays and special offers in the shops.

Last Saturday, he saw a pair of sports shoes that he really liked. They were on sale, but they were still quite expensive. (35) _____. Amir looked at the shoes again. He had enough money in his wallet, but he had been saving that money for a new bicycle. He was not sure what to do.

His mother noticed his worried face and asked him what was wrong. (36) _____. Amir then remembered something his teacher had said in class about making wise spending choices.

He decided not to buy the shoes immediately. Instead, he walked around the shop and compared prices with other sports shoes. (37) _____. Although some shoes were cheaper, Amir checked their quality before making his decision.

After that, Amir and his mother went to another shop. He found a pair of good-quality shoes at a lower price. (38) _____. He realised that buying something just because it was on sale was not always a good idea.

Before going home, Amir also saw a poster about credit cards and online shopping. The poster reminded shoppers to think carefully before spending money. (39) _____. Amir understood that people could easily spend more than they planned when they bought things online.

When they reached home, Amir kept the money he had saved into his money box. (40) _____. His mother smiled because she was happy to see him making a responsible choice. From that day on, Amir always asked himself three questions before buying something: Do I need it? Can I afford it? Is there a better choice?

A	He decided to buy the cheaper pair because it met his needs and saved him money.
B	His mother told him to buy the bicycle quickly before the sale ended.
C	Amir was excited because he thought the shoes would make him look like a professional sports player.
D	She explained that having enough money did not mean he had to spend it.
E	He also learned that a small amount of money could grow if he saved it regularly.
F	Amir realised that comparing products could help him avoid spending too much.
G	The poster also warned shoppers to be careful about buying things they did not really need.
H	He used all his savings to buy the shoes because they were on sale.
