The Digestive System

stomach

Small intestine

esophagus

rectum

mouth

Large intestine

LIVEWORKSHEETS

Match the correct answer.

mouth

stomach

Small intestine

esophagus

Large intestine

rectum

It's where the digestions starts.

- Approximately 20 cm long.
- It moves food from the throat to the stomach.

- Here comes the food that you eat.
- The stomach breaks the food down into tiny pieces using Digestive Juices.throat to the stomach.

- Short term storage which holds feces before it is expelled
- Concentrate wastes.

- It's are less than 7 meters long.
- Nutrients from the food pass into the bloodstream through the small intestine walls.
- Secretes digestive enzymes

- About 1.5 meters long
- Accepts what small intestines don't absorb.

LIVEWORKSHEETS