Internet Addiction

The problem with the internet is that sometimes you just get (0) sucking in. One minute you're looking up your project topic, 20 minutes later you have (1) post three new pictures and are checking your likes. Soon, your dad is yelling (2) to you to get off the computer. Or you say you'll play that game (3) from fifteen minutes and suddenly it's dark outside (4) so it's time for dinner. It does not seem fair that time can (5) passing like that. However, when you're studying fifteen minutes seems like (6) a hour. Albert Einstein's view on the different experiences of time led him to create (7) her general theory of relativity. But none of this is any use to (8) me when we're staring at the second hand on the clock and it's crawling like a slug in slow motion. I think I'll just check to see if my friends have posted anything interesting...
