

The Zombie Who Hated Halloween!

It is Halloween night. Zippy is a little green zombie. He lives in a small house with his black cat, Mr. Pickles.

Zippy has a big problem. He hates Halloween! Why? He is afraid of ghosts, witches, and even pumpkins!

"Pumpkins are scary!" he says. "They have big orange heads and no hair!"

At six o'clock, Zippy hears a knock at the door. Knock, knock, knock!

"Trick or treat!" shout three children dressed as a vampire, a witch, and a ghost.

Zippy screams, "Aaaah! A ghost!" Then he jumps into a laundry basket.

"I am not a ghost," says the little boy. "I am just wearing a white sheet!"

Suddenly, Mr. Pickles jumps out of the basket wearing Zippy's underwear on his head!

"Aaaah!" screams Zippy. "A monster cat!"

The children laugh and laugh. Even the cat looks surprised!

Zippy feels silly. He gives the children some candies, and they invite him to their Halloween party.

At the party, Zippy eats five cookies, dances like a chicken, and wears a pumpkin on his head.

"Halloween is fun!" he says. "But next year, I am dressing up as a banana. Bananas are not scary!"

Mr. Pickles meows. He wants to be a banana, too!
