Bellwork: Chapter 6 – Motivating Employees

Instructions: Complete the sentences using the most appropriate terms from the word bank. Each term can only be used once. There are four distractors that you will not need.

Part A – Word bank.

Absenteeism	Bonus
Commission	Extrinsic
Financial	Fringe benefits
Intrinsic	Labor turnover
Motivation	Overtime
Piece rate	Productivity
Profit sharing	Salary

Part B – Complete the sentences

1. The internal and external factors that drive employees to perform effectively are known as _____.

2. Rewards such as pay, recognition and promotions are examples of _____ motivators.

3. Personal satisfaction and opportunities for growth are examples of _____ motivators.

4. The amount of output produced by each worker is known as labor _____.

5. The rate at which employees leave a business and need to be replaced is called _____.

6. When employees are frequently absent from work, the business experiences high levels of _____.

7. A one-off payment given to employees in recognition of good performance is called a _____.

8. A payment made to sales employees based on the value or quantity of their sales is called _____.

9. When employees are paid according to the number of products they produce, this is known as _____.

10. Additional benefits provided by a business, such as company cars, health insurance or free accommodation, are called _____.

LIVEWORKSHEETS