Gardening is becoming one of the most rewarding outdoor hobbies among teenagers today. It is not only an enjoyable activity but also offers numerous health and mental benefits.

When you work in a garden, you engage in light physical exercise such as digging, planting, and watering flowers. This helps burn calories and keeps your body active. Furthermore, spending time outdoors in natural sunlight provides your body with Vitamin D, which strengthens bones and improves your mood. Gardening also teaches young people responsibility and patience, as plants require regular care over weeks to blossom or produce fruit.

In addition, home gardening allows families to grow their own organic vegetables and herbs without using harmful chemicals. Eating home-grown produce ensures fresh and safe nutrition for daily meals. Thus, starting a small garden is a wonderful way to relax, stay healthy, and protect the environment.

Question 27. What is the passage mainly about?

A. How to sell flowers online

B. The benefits of gardening as a hobby for teenagers

C. The history of farming tools
