AMERICAN PIES

The USA is not just famous for hot dogs and hamburgers. Americans are also serious about their desserts – they've got lots of delicious things you can eat after a meal. And a lot of people think that the best American dessert is the pie.

Apple pie is a favourite dessert in the USA. Classic American apple pie is simple: it's got apples, sugar and lemon juice. Cherry pie is also a favourite, and it is very popular with children. Americans usually eat it with cream or ice cream on a very special day: Independence Day. Another classic American pie is not with fruit, but with a vegetable: pumpkin. Pumpkin pie is very typical in 'the fall' (as the Americans call the autumn), especially on Thanksgiving Day. Cream pies are also very popular in the USA. A cream pie has got milk, sugar and eggs, and often different fruit, like bananas or strawberries.

The New York Cheesecake is a type of sweet cheese pie. It's very simple: eggs, cheese and biscuits. Some people also add fruit, like strawberries, on top.

Pies are so popular in the USA that there are lots of different pie festivals all over the country. One of these festivals is in September, in a town in New Mexico. The name of the town? Pie Town!
