Unit 2 - Part I: Reading - The Two Lucys

Last summer, Lucy Brown was travelling to London with her parents. They were going to see a musical for her thirteenth birthday. While the train was moving through the countryside, Lucy was reading a book about the Titanic. She loved stories about the famous ship.

Suddenly, a girl on the other side of the train looked up and laughed. She was reading exactly the same book! The girls started talking, and Lucy found out that the other girl was also called Lucy. She was also thirteen, and her birthday was on the same day, the 4th of July.

"What a coincidence!" said Lucy's mum.

But the strangest part came later. When the family arrived at the theatre, they went to their seats. A minute before the show started, the other Lucy and her dad sat down right next to them. They had the same seats in the same row.

After the show, the two families had dinner together. While they were eating, the girls discovered that their great-grandfathers were both passengers on the Titanic, and both survived. Today, the two Lucys are best friends.

True or False? Write T or F.

1. Lucy was travelling to London for her birthday. _____
2. The other girl was reading a different book. _____
3. The two girls were born on the same day. _____
4. Their great-grandfathers died on the Titanic. _____
