MASSIVE INJURY	HOSPITAL	WATER	WINDOW
VICHY FRANCE	WOODEN SIGN	ENGLISH SEASHORE

_____ Peter Williamson has sustained a _____ while flying a mission over _____ (the name given to the German-controlled areas of the country). He _____ from the plane and later awakes to find himself in a hospital bed in Brighton on the _____. Strange things keep happening though - like the time he recognizes the sound of _____ through the window when there wouldn't have been any nearby. The nurse also mentions that the _____ is very hard, when Williamson knows the water in Brighton is famous for being _____. Suspicious and frightened, he later drags himself to the _____ and sees a _____, "GARDE AU CHIEN" (French for "Beware of the dog"). He knows that he is in Vichy France, and that the nice English _____ are actually Germans _____. When they send in fake RAF commander to convince him to divulge his _____, he stares at him straight in the eye and says nothing more than "My name is Peter Williamson. My rank is Squadron Leader and my number is nine seven two four five seven"
