D. The possessive form is used to show the relationship between two things. Possessive nouns use an apostrophe followed by an "s" except when the noun ends already with an "s". In this case the possessive is an "s" followed by an apostrophe. You can usually replace the possessive form by an expression using "of" but it doesn't sound as good in most cases.

Examples:

singular: The cat's food ➡ the food of the cat

plural: My parents' car ➡ the car of my parents

1. There are 4 possessive nouns in the article. Can you find them and transform them using "of"?

- _____ ➡ _____
 - _____ ➡ _____
 - _____ ➡ _____
 - _____ ➡ _____

2. Transform the expressions in possessive form.
