

MAKE or DO

COMPLETE THE SENTENCES WITH THE VERB MAKE OR DO IN ITS CORRECT FORM.

I have to _____ a phone call.

Who is going to _____ the cooking?

You are more likely to _____ mistakes in writing than you are in speech.

Why don't you sit down and _____ yourself comfortable.

I can't go to the cinema. I have to _____ my homework.

After that I have to _____ dinner.

He can't answer the phone because he _____ the dishes.

She _____ aerobics twice a week.

She _____ her own clothes. Quite talented, isn't she?

We promise _____ our best to complete the task on schedule.

Please, _____ your beds before breakfast is served.

I will _____ some tea in a few minutes. It will warm you up.

My mom usually _____ the ironing at weekends.

No doubt, the news _____ her happy.

How much _____ you _____ a month?

I'm not sure I locked the door. I'll better go and _____ sure.

She is such a lazybones. She _____ nothing all day long.

Who _____ those strange noises?

I have to say I _____ friends easily.

You should _____ a shopping list because you keep forgetting what I ask you to buy.

My granny promised _____ a cake for my upcoming birthday. Yummy.

He _____ plans down to the last detail.

He has an annoying habit of _____ fun of other people's flaws.

My husband always _____ a mess and never bothers to clean afterwards,

Will you _____ me a favour?

_____ a good impression on your prospective employer is very important.

Your lame excuses _____ me laugh.

I _____ my best to solve the problem as soon as possible.

Who _____ the housework in your household?

He _____ a touching speech at the funeral the other day.

_____ you _____ up your mind yet?

He _____ research in genetic engineering.

You have to _____ the decision on the spot.

» _____ love, not war«, says a poster originating from the 60ies.

So far, we haven't _____ a huge profit.

(At the hotel reception) A guest: »I would like to _____ a complaint.«

Are you _____ any progress?

Small steps can _____ a huge difference.

An angry mother to her underaged son: »Let's _____ something clear. You are grounded!«

Many families are on really tight budget these days and can hardly _____ both ends meet.

A lion is over there. Don't _____ a move.

Stop doing that because you _____ a complete fool of yourself.

A change will _____ you good.

That dog won't _____ any harm, I guarantee.

What _____ you _____ for a living?

_____ an effort before you quit, will you.

I have to _____ an appointment with my dentist.

An upset teacher to a student: » Stop _____ weird faces and rolling your eyes.

He was caught while _____ an attempt to break into the house.

