It wasn't possible to fly to La Coruña direct, so they needed to fly to Santiago de Compostela, and then get a taxi.

They checked in at Heathrow Airport at 9.00 p.m. because their flight was at 11.00 at night.

They booked the tickets to Santiago on the internet.

They walked out of the airport and stopped a taxi.

Two Manchester United fans wanted to travel to Spain to see the match.

When the plane landed, they were very surprised! It was morning!

They asked the taxi driver, 'Where's the match?' The taxi driver answered, 'What match?'
