Hi Paula,

I'm writing to tell you that I've started my job in the bakery. I know I told you I was going to start two weeks ago, but I fell ill, so I had my first day at work last Monday. The bakery is very popular with the local residents. It sells bread, rolls and sweet buns, but the biggest hit that most people come there for are the delicious pastries, which we sell hot at lunch time.

Since I started, I've done quite a few different things. I first helped to sell at the counter, packing the food. This job also involved cleaning the several tables where customers can drink tea or coffee and eat the food they've bought. This one was really my least favourite. At the moment I'm helping the kitchen staff and, although it's the hardest, I'm loving it! I can watch them at work and I hope to learn a lot here. One of the bakers showed me how to make bagels. I baked some later at home and they were quite good. Next on my list are muffins and brownies and I promise to make some for you when you come to see me in August.

How are you spending your holiday?

Write back,

Natalie
