Hi! My name's Harry and my brother and I had a great day out recently. We signed up for a water sports course in a big sports park outside my city, and we had to travel by train to get there. We got to the station really early because we didn't want to miss the train. We waited for a long time on the platform. Then the train arrived and we got on. There weren't many places to sit, so we sat next to a family. When it was time to get off, we collected our bags and went straight to the park, where we went kayaking and did some raft-building. Our team's raft was brilliant! Then we caught the train home, and looked at all the photos of the day on my brother's smartphone. It was a great day!
