The internet, B1+

1. Listen to the first part of the article and fill in the missing words. Use a maximum of three words.

a. You can spend hours playing _____ games.

b. You can control devices and home appliances _____.

c. The geopolitical tension between the USA and Soviet Union was called _____.

d. The first message travelled to a computer at Stanford _____.

e. However, only _____ letters of the message arrived there.

f. The internet in the Czech Republic officially started on _____.

2. Choose the correct option in the sentences below.

a. Lot of / Most / The most people think that the internet and web are the same, but they're not!

b. While the internet is the / - / a global network of computer networks or infrastructure with no central point,

c. the web is a service that / what / who enables users to access information systems.

d. Sir Tim Berners-Lee is the / - / a British computer scientist who developed Hypertext,

e. also called Hyperlinking, that / which / whose we use to obtain related pieces of information.

f. He has received / received / was received multiple awards.

3. Read the definition and write the word for it.

a. a service which allows you access websites   _____

b. a simple coding system to create websites   _____

c. a unique address of the resource   _____

d. a set of rules to link web files   _____

e. special software used to search content on the internet   _____

f. an application that lets you view HTML files   _____

4. What do these abbreviations stand for?

a. URL   _____

b. HTTP   _____

c. HTML   _____

d. WWW   _____

e. ARPANET   _____