

There is one incorrectly spelt word in each line. Select the incorrectly spelt word. Write the correctly spelt word in the box provided.

Meerkat, a burowing member of the Mongoose family, is found in South Africa. It is unmistakeably recognisable in its upright posteure as it watches for predators. The Meerkat is slendar and has a pointed little face, tiny ears, and black eye patches. Body lenght is about 29 cm in highth and the pointed tail is 19 cm.

Water is the transparant, tasteless, odorless and nearly colorless chemical substance that is the main constituent of Earth's streems, lakes, and oceans, and the fluids of most living organsims, and that is vital for all known forms of life. Even though it provides no calorıs, there are organic nutrients and trace minerales.