We all know Cinderella fantasy film released in the 1950's by Walt Disney Animation Studios. It tells the story of a young girl, who lives happily with her mother and father until her mother dies and her father remarries a cold, cruel woman who has two daughters, Drizella and Anastasia. When the father dies, Cinderella's wicked stepmother turns her into a servant in her own house. The prince invites every woman in the kingdom to a royal ball. Cinderella tries to go but her stepmother doesn't let her go and locks her in a room. But her Fairy Godmother saves her and makes her a fancy dress to attend the ball. Then, the pumpkin carriage, the royal ball, the stroke of midnight, the glass slipper, and the rest, as they say, is fairy tale history.

This story belongs to the fantasy genre because it involves magical elements, which does not exist in the real world. More accurately, Cinderella is a folktale, which is a story that is passed down through generations by word of mouth. The common elements of folktales are:

- Setting: it is where the story takes place. It can be a place that exists or an imaginary place.
- Characters: characters can be people or talking animals who have exaggerated or magical abilities.
- Conflicts: The conflicts are usually everyday problems that regular people might have.
- Theme: it is a lesson about human nature from which listeners or readers can learn.

- a. What type of story is Cinderella?
- b. Why Cinderella belongs to the fantasy genre?
