Present Perfect simple and Continuous (since, for)

We use the present perfect simple when the results of a past action are visible now and when something is started in the past and still continues now.

Form: Have / Has + V(3)

Subject + have / has + V3 + ... + for / since + time

Key words: for / since

e.g: I have written three letters since yesterday.

We use present perfect continuous to talk about an action or situation started in the past and continued up for this moment.

Form: Have / Has + been + V(ing)

Subject + have / has + been + V + ing + ... + for / since + time

Key words: for / since

e.g: I have been writting three letters since yesterday.
