David Richardson is fifteen years old and he lives with his family in Manchester. This is a copy of a letter he wrote to his new pen-pal in Spain.

Dear Juan,

Hello! My name's David and I'm fifteen years old. My birthday is on the thirteenth of March. My mother's name is Christine and she works part-time as a nurse. My father's name is Ted and he works full-time as a company representative. I've got two sisters: one is called Sarah and she's in her last year at school, and the other is called Jenny and she's very naughty. Sarah is seventeen and she's got a boyfriend called John. Jenny is only ten and she always annoys me when I'm studying.

We live in a semi-detached house with a little garden and we have a beautiful cat called Simon. I like playing with my cat but I don't like helping in the garden. Do you live in a house or a flat? Have you got any brothers and sisters? Do both your parents work?

In my next letter I'll tell you about my school.

Write soon,

David
