

Organizing arguments

Persuasive/argumentative texts should show both sides of a debate. Organize the points below so they are under the correct side of the argument.

architecture can be beautiful	beauty is not art	some buildings are ugly architecture needs creativity and imagination		architecture is functional both art and architecture consider colour, shape and texture people like to visit great architecture		architects turn imaginative ideas into real life

Architecture is art	Architecture is not art

Read the below introduction to a persuasive essay.

From the world's tallest building to the iconic Burj Al Arab, the UAE truly has many examples of striking architecture. However, there is a debate on whether architecture is a true art form. Can we compare the Gate Towers building in Abu Dhabi, to a work of art by Picasso, for example? Buildings, though in some cases beautiful, are primarily functional therefore, architecture cannot be considered as art.
