

should have + past participle

- ▶ 'Should have + past participle' is used when you talk about something in the past that was a good idea, but you didn't do it.
- ▶ I was late for my appointment. I should have gotten up earlier.
- ▶ I can't keep up with my university courses. I should have registered for fewer classes.

Answer with should have:

1. I didn't wear a mask and fainted from the fumes.
You _____ a mask.
2. I didn't wear protective gloves and sliced my finger.
You _____ protective gloves.
3. I didn't secure the ladder and I fell.
You _____ the ladder.
4. I didn't wear a helmet and a rock hit my head.
5. You _____ a helmet.
6. I didn't clean the floor and I tripped over a skid.
You _____ the floor.
7. I didn't label the bottle correctly and I used the wrong spray.
You _____ the bottle correctly.

Answer with shouldn't have:

1. I used a broken machine and my hand got jammed.
You _____ the broken machine.
2. I used a dull knife blade and cut myself.
3. You _____ the dull knife.