Many people claim to be able to know when someone is lying. According 1) ..... popular belief, all you have to do is look at a person's body language; when a person is lying he becomes nervous and fidgety, touches his nose, and bites his nails. However, a researcher at Portsmouth University, England, has arrived at an entirely different conclusion. Dr Samantha Mann carried 2) ..... research on the behaviour of suspects who had given 3) ..... statements in police interviews. Mann discovered that liars actually stay quite still. This is because they are aware that people are looking for body language that could suggest they are lying. Therefore, liars actually touch their noses 20% less than people who tell the truth. The same 4) ..... for eye contact. While it is generally thought that liars avoid eye contact and blink rapidly, in reality, people who are lying 5) ..... sure to maintain eye contact and control their blinking. With the findings of her research in mind, Mann claims that the best way to spot a liar is to look for people who are trying too hard to 6) ..... truthful.
