A community is a group of people living in a particular area.

A shelter is something that covers or protects.

HOW NATURAL RESOURCES AFFECTED COMMUNITIES

Natural resources are things that sustain life. Water, trees, plants, and animals are natural resources.

People settle in communities near resources that meet their needs. The basic needs of people include food, fresh water, clothing, shelter, and transportation. Shelter is another name for a place that provides protection.

In the past, people settled near natural resources in the land that is now the UAE. One important natural resource is the Arabian Gulf. The water in the Arabian Gulf is not drinkable because it is salty. People used the Gulf for fishing and they earned money by pearl diving. Pearls can be made into jewellery worth a lot of money.

Some people settled in the area now called Al Ain. They brought fresh water from the mountains to their farms in Al Ain, and from under the ground.

People could grow more food in places like Al Ain than in the desert. In the past, life in the desert was difficult because of the natural environment.
