

Put the joke about a consultant, who worked for Arthur Andersen - formerly one of the "Big Five" accounting firms, in the correct order by writing numbers from 1 to 32.

	The young man takes the sheep and puts "Very simple," answers the shepherd. "First after his sheep on the edge of a deserted road.
	and 60 excel tables filled with algorithms, then prints Third, you do not understand anything about what I do, will you give me one of them?"
	exactly 1586 sheep here."
	profession, will you return my sheep to me?"
	Second, you charge me, at the sheep, which graze and says: "All you can have your sheep."
	The shepherd says: "You are an Arthur Andersen consultant!"
	Once upon a time there was a shepherd looking the notebook and the mobile, enters a NASA site, scans you come here without being called.
	screeches to a halt next to him.
	a 150-pages report on his high-tech mini printer. He then to tell me something I already knew.
	The driver, a young man dressed in a Brioni suit, Cerruti shoes, Ray- Ban looks at him and asks: "If I guess your glasses, and a YSL tie gets out and asks the shepherd:
	turns to the shepherd and says: "You have
	"How did you know?" asks the young man.
	The shepherd answers: "That's correct,
	Suddenly a brand new Jeep Cherokee
	The young man answers: "Yes, why not."
	The shepherd looks at the young man, then looks it in the back of his jeep. The shepherd
	"If I guess how many sheep you have,
	the ground using his GPS, opens a database right." The young man parks the car, connects because you took my dog!"