Every day, in my way to school I see more and more _____ by the road. People _____ many different things: glass bottles, cans, plastic bags, even a TV!

I live in a beautiful small village placed in the heart of a Natural Park. Wild life and farming share here the space. I can't understand why people damage the _____ where they live by treating it like a garbage can.

Talking to my friends we came up with an idea: we should start a _____ and to promote green habits. _____ campaigning in the village against _____

First, we made a group of volunteers to _____ the roadside. It was a nice day, many people came and we did a great job. We collected lots of bags of garbage that later we separated in different piles to recycle: plastic, cans, glass. We took photos that we shared with our friends and families to promote good and clean habits in the village.

We created a poster about _____ in which we explain what can be recycled and in what containers we must place the different rubbish.

We also organize a second-hand market with many different things to _____ or recycle: shoes, clothes, electronic gadgets, books, toys, bikes, etc. It was a success!

With the help of the school we organized a "Smoke free day" to promote the use of clean transportation to school. Many students came that day by bike, walking, rollerblading or skate boarding. It was very fun!

Now, we have decided not to stop in our campaign, so we have organized a group that will work in different ways to teach and support people to protect the planet and our lives.

Step by step we will make a difference! Don't _____ the environment!
