

We've been here for hours!

Close your book and listen to the conversation. Is Ana going to meet Jay in Hyde Park this evening?

*Ana's on the London Eye with Charlie.
Their pod has stopped at the top.*

CHARLIE: Why aren't we moving?
I'm getting bored. We've been here for hours!

ANA: No, we haven't. We've been here for five minutes – since quarter past three. I looked at my watch when we stopped.

CHARLIE: That's your mobile. I bet it's Jay.

ANA: Oh shut up, Charlie!
... Hi, Jay! I'm on the London Eye with Charlie. It's fantastic.

JAY: Great. Er, listen. I haven't seen you for ages. Er, are you doing anything this evening?

ANA: No, I don't think so. Oh, we've started to move again.

JAY: OK. Well, I'll ring you later.

CHARLIE: How long have you known Jay?

ANA: Since I arrived in London. I met him in Hyde Park.

CHARLIE: Is he your boyfriend?

ANA: No, he isn't.

CHARLIE: Well, he's just phoned you.

ANA: And I've just said he isn't my boyfriend!

Listen again and follow in your book. Are these sentences true or false? Correct the false sentences.

- 1 At the beginning of the conversation, it's twenty past three.
- 2 Ana and Charlie aren't moving.
- 3 They've been at the top for a very long time.
- 4 Jay saw Ana yesterday.
- 5 Ana was talking on the phone when they started to move again.
- 6 Ana has known Jay since they were children.
- 7 Ana has just telephoned Jay.