The haunted house

My name is Kate. Last winter my parents and I stayed in an old house in a small village. When we arrived, two young children were playing near the house. The girl shouted, "Don't stay here - this house is haunted!" My family and I laughed and then the children ran away.

In the afternoon, we went for a walk. It was getting dark when we found an old cemetery. I felt a bit scared, so we went back to the house. My dad cooked dinner and then we played games and read books.

We went to bed early and I went to sleep quickly. At midnight, I heard a noise. It was a little girl and she was singing. I was very scared, so I turned on the lamp. There was a young girl next to my bed. I asked her, "What are you doing here?" And she said, "Don't you remember me? We met earlier today outside this house." "What do you want?" I shouted. "This is my house. I died here," the girl said. I closed my eyes and screamed.

The girl disappeared. Then my mum came into my bedroom.

"Don't worry, Anne. It was only a nightmare," she said.
