Tom lives in a small town in Nebraska. The town is called Fremont, and it's about half an hour from Omaha, the biggest city in Nebraska. But Tom works as a lorry driver, so he spends a lot of time out of town, too. He drives from Nebraska to Texas, or to California, or to New York. Wherever his boss tells him to go. He spends 5 or 6 days on the road, and then he's back at home for a few days to rest. Nebraska has a lot of agriculture, so usually his lorry is full of beef, pork, corn or soybeans.

He has a wife and two kids in Nebraska. His wife's name is Janine, and his kids are Katie and Walker. Katie is 4 years old, and Walker is 2. He loves his wife and his kids very much, and he feels bad that he doesn't spend more time with them.

When he's on the road, driving his lorry, Tom stays in hotels. He eats breakfast, lunch and dinner in lorry stop diners. A lot of the time he has breakfast in one state, lunch in another, and dinner in another.

Today, he's driving to New York. He's driving a refrigerated lorry full of beef to a supermarket in Manhattan.

He likes his job, but sometimes it's a bit boring. He spends a lot of time alone, on the road, and he feels lonely

- 1 He hates his job.
- 2 He lives in New York.
- 3 His lorry is full of beef, pork, corn or soybeans.
- 4 He has the breakfast in his house.
- 5 The text is about Tom's job.
